

A World of Girls

looking for contributors!

Hi there!

Our team is currently looking for talented, creative and passionate females to join in and contribute your work to our Instagram account (@aworldof_girls) and website (<http://aworldofgirls.weebly.com>).

So what exactly are we looking for? To put it simply, we're looking to inspire.

We aim to create a platform where girls can share and empower each other through their thoughts and their works of art. But keep in mind the end goal is to give inspiration to, not just girls, but everyone who come across our page.

Since this is a non-profit project, we won't give any monetary incentive for your contributions. But what we will do is share your work on our social handles (Instagram and Website) and will even link your work to your personal Instagram account or website. If you're looking to reach an international crowd, this can be a perfect opportunity for you as our social handles are followed by people of various nationality.

Writers:

If you want to change the world with your words, then you've found the perfect place for your talent. Here are two options if you'd like to contribute as a writer:

1. [Option 1] Interview

If there's an inspirational female figure you'd like to interview, you can interview her and send us your draft along with her photograph. Don't forget to include a short write up about her before the questions. You can look at some of the interviews we've done for reference on our website (<https://aworldofgirls.weebly.com/words>)

2. [Option 2] Write a short column

If you want to put your thoughts on certain issues or phenomena into words then you can write a short column (max. 1000 words) and send us your draft.

NOTE: Please write in ENGLISH. After you've sent your draft, we might edit some of the content, phrasing or flow of the writing so make sure you're okay with this! Before publishing, we would send it back to you so you can read it first.

Photographers:

If photography is your thing, then here is your chance! Currently the photo series we're doing is about "what is one advice you would like to share to girls all over the world?" And there are two options you can do as a contributor:

1. [Option 1] Contribute to the series!

Take photos of females you think can give rocking advice and send us the picture along with that person's advice and nationality. Basically you can take a picture of any female, but having a mix of nationality would be better! It is after all a world of girls.

2. [Option 2] Come up with your own series!

If you want to further showcase your talent at photography, you're more than welcome to propose your own photo series! Other than looking to inspire, we also would like to show how girls see the world so basically the photo series can be about anything.

So, How Can I Contribute?

Simple. Just shoot us an email!

When writing us the email don't forget to follow the format below and send your email to bellautami97@gmail.com

[For Photographers]

SUBJECT: #AWoG - Photographer - Option 1/Option 2

CONTENT:

- Personal information: Your name, nickname, nationality, age
- (if you choose Option 1) : include the Name, Nationality, and Advice of the person you took a photo of and also attach the picture and NAME THE FILE according to their names.

- example:

Name: Bella

Nationality: Indonesian

Advice: "Don't be afraid to dream big!"
